

Threshermens' Bunkhouse

This building is a 1910 bunkhouse that was pulled by horses from one farm to another at harvest time. It housed the threshing crew and contains 8 bunks and a stove. The bunks would have originally had straw mattresses. Usually the cooking was done by the women of the host farm, but the stove could be used for heating on cold Fall nights.

